A variety of subjects were discussed but the main object of the conference was to discuss the feasibility of establishing an organization that shall raise a fund to be used in protecting wild life ~~and~~ by whatever means, but without subscribing in full to any other methods now in vogue ~~but~~ and without favoring any class who desire

July 7 (Monday to Ossipee)

We left at 8 o'clock. Went to Island Pond and thence to Stratford and Callicrook and through Dixville Notch. There was a very beautiful notch, though not very high. Thence we drove by Eriol to Milan (lunch) and down to Berlin.

Here we looked up Mrs Hannah (Paula's mother) and chatted with her a while. Thence we drove to Goshan through Pinkham Notch down through the Conway to Ossipee.

We found Fred fairly well.
Saw Alfred and family
for a few minutes.

Got supper and went to

Sunday July 20

We drove down to Province Lake via Wakefield.

The children went in the water and we had lunch.

We saw an eagle soaring over the lake and a small flock of teal apparently blue-winged.

Drove home by way of Bennet Crossroads and had a talk with him. Asked him about the date of settlement of Pine Flat. He did not know. But said Jonathan Dorr told him it was when he was a boy, as he saw them burning the logs.

Thursday July 24

We did nothing of note in the forenoon but in the afternoon we (Alfred, Norman and I) went up to Danhole Pond. We parked at a meadow below the junction of the roads below the lake and started for the mountain-top where the herons used to nest. As we did not start from the site of the old millyard we did not strike the old logging road, but we had no difficulty in finding our way up through the woods to the summit. Here the general contours looked natural. But the woods where the heronry used to be had been cut. Near the summit was a burn where the ground was covered with raspberries, and here the bears had trampled down many paths in eating the berries. They had also dug up some old squirrel caches and had torn the bark from stumps in their search for insects. On the summit which was nearly clear white firs, and which had evidently been a pasture for a stone wall crossed it, we rested awhile on the great ledge, glacier worn, from which we had a magnificent view of Ossipee Mts. and the foot-hills between it and Doudole. I took a picture of the pond which we looked down upon. We could see also the hills

The children went to Wolfboro - and came home until after dinner.
An old man named Abnerworth on his way to Fryburg came by and asked to buy a meal. I fixed him up and gave him a lunch, and Norman who happened along took him on his way to beyond the center.

In the late afternoon Alfred and I put the galvanized roofing on Thursday July 31.

To Mount Moat Mountain
we planned a trip to Mount Mt. but did not get away until late. Alfred, Norman and I left Diana's Falls at a quarter to 12. The others came later.
We took at leisurely and were about 3 hours making the ascent. There were very fine blueberries as we came out of the woods to the ledge open spots. We saw few birds.

Saturday Aug 2. To Boston

Spent most of the afternoon at the river clearing away the logs. Alfred helped me cut the big logs. We found many Caddisworms on sticks at the bottom. Decided to take the 5.01 train for Boston so packed up and Alfred took me to the train.

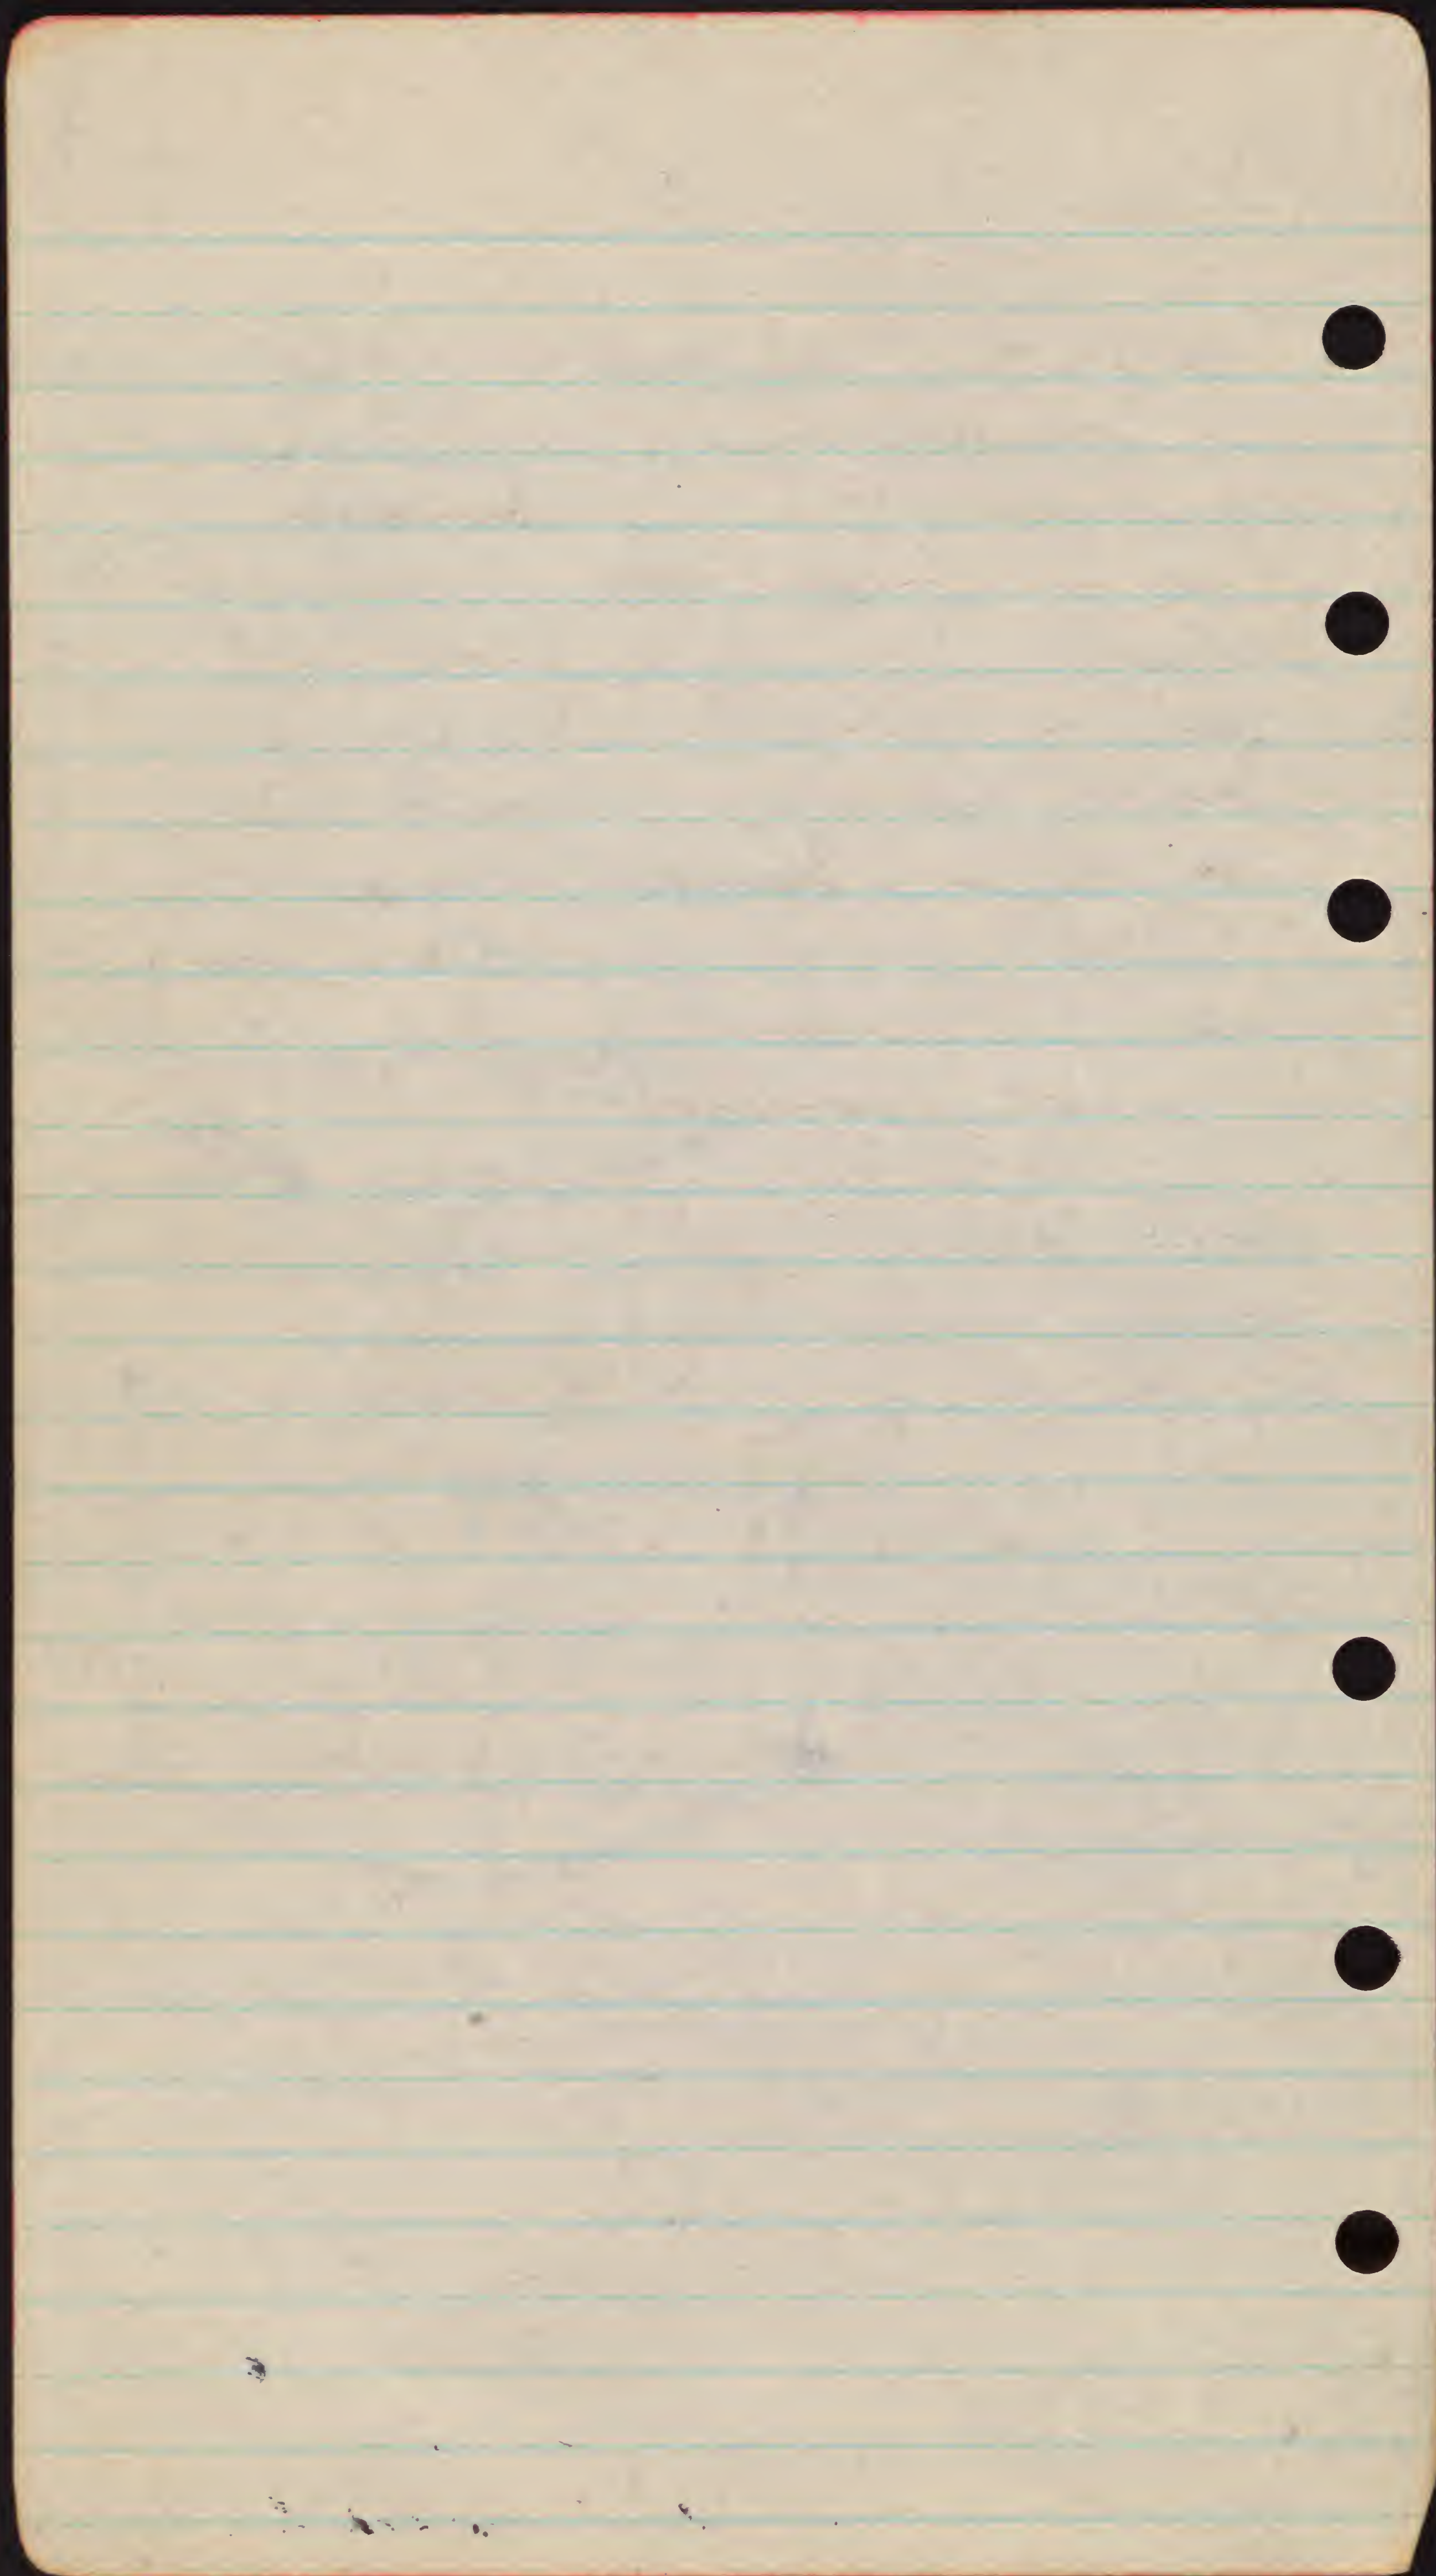

Margorie and Evelyn had been away all day at an auction, and arrived at the station with the children at 10 to 5. so I said goodbye to all of them at once.

The ride to Boston was warm but not excessively uncomfortable. Got there at 8.52 and after a lunch got the 9.30 for Mr. Woburn. Found most of the family in bed. but mamma got up and we visited awhile - all well.

Woburn.

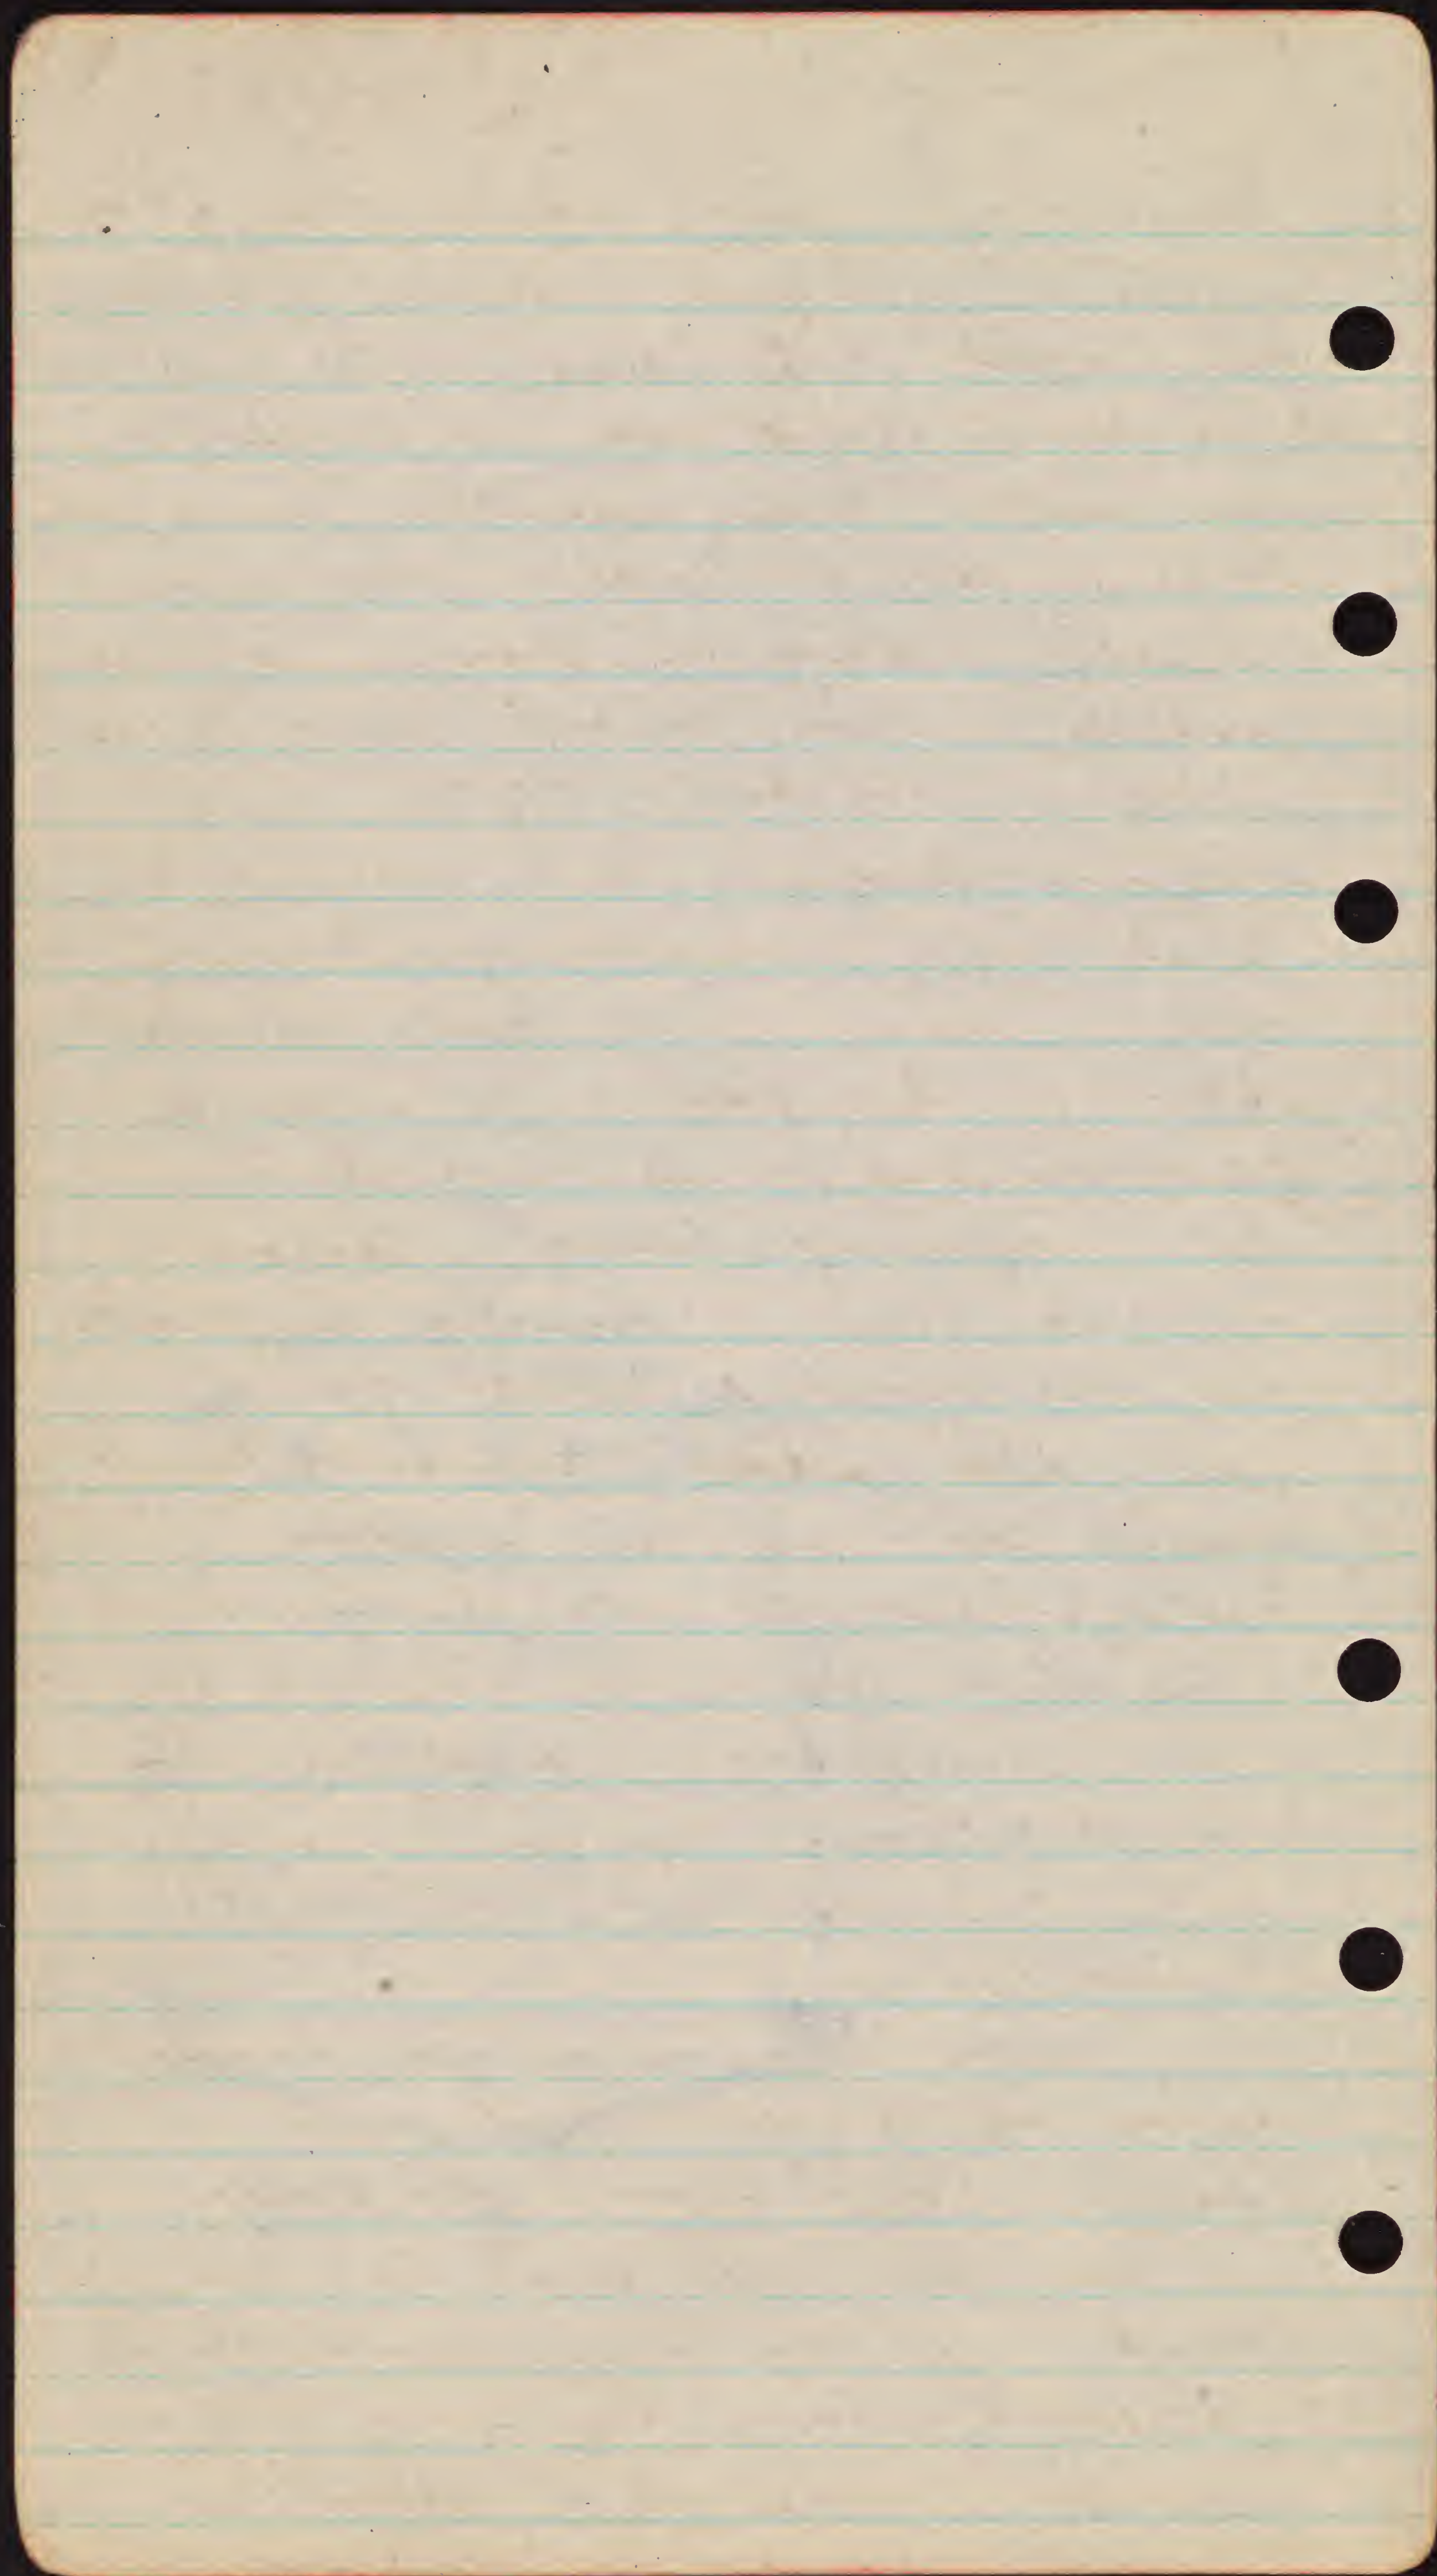

Sunday Aug 3.

Stayed about the house during the forenoon. In the afternoon Harry took us up to Melington where we visited the Jessups (Harry) who built on the summit ~~about~~ 7 Bells Hall about 14 years ago.
Found them to be charming people, and very much interested in nature. They have a fine set of rock gardens somewhat handicapped by dearth of water.

Cleveland Park Sept 26, 1930

This evening just before dusk, I saw a woodcock in the yard next door. She was within 10 feet of the street when first seen almost beneath a bird walk, and sheltered by some shrubbery. Passing accidentally seemed not to alarm her. She walked about rather rapidly, holding the body nearly horizontally, with the bill close to the earth. She bowed often, but never deeply, but seemed to pick up something. Presently she worked back from the street following the edge of a deep flower bed, and sometimes on the adjoining lawn, threading in and out among the plants. Once she stopped still for a few minutes, evidently having seen us at the window. But we kept still and she moved on. From when we looked down at her from the bedroom window, she was not over 20 feet away. Soon she walked out on the open lawn several feet from the flower bed, and then flew away, up the street and over a house down toward the valley. All the time she was in the yard she was never more than 10 feet from one house or the other. Evelyn and I watched her.

Oct 18 To Kennett Square Pa

2 P.M. to drive to Salem Mass.
to attend the A.O.U. meeting.
We went via Baltimore.

The foliage was beginning to change, but was not at its height. No sign of Frost in the gardens. We reached Kennett square about dark and stopped at a house on the left as we entered the town 217 West State St. Mrs H J

at a restaurant. After supper I looked up
C. J. Pennock. Found him and his wife at home and passed a pleasant evening with them. Talked over things in general and birds in particular.
Mr Pennock said there had been no frost except a dittle in the bottoms.

now kept by a Mrs Somerville.

Sunday.

Nov 23 .. Up early, but could not get breakfast until 9. Then Bul and I went down to the wharves, and he made a sketch or two and took some photographs. We crossed an arm of the Creek and went along the shore for a little distance. I took some pictures. Then we went back to May's to lunch.

Got away about $2 \frac{45}{5}$ and started back. Went out to Waluped. for a few minutes. Then on to Frederiksborg. got there about dusk. Got home about $6 \frac{45}{5}$.
